WHEN: Wednesday, May 14, 2025

WHERE: Virtual Meeting and Program via Zoom

PROGRAM: Starting at 7:00 p.m.

Researching in German Records

Those with German heritage know German Records can hold the keys to tracing your family back several generations, but finding these records and being able to read them takes a particular skillset. Join us to learn more about both online records and doing research when visiting Germany.

Following the program, Karynne welcomes your questions! If you have a document you are having difficulty reading, please email it to Karynne at mosesgenealogy@gmail.com ahead of the program. She will do her best to help you with it, time permitting.

Ebhausen, Calw, Baden-Württemberg, Germany

Presented by Karynne Moses

Karynne Moses studied Family History / Genealogy at Brigham Young University and now works as a private researcher with a focus on German and Portuguese Family History Research. She has a passion for teaching others and enjoys German Translation, including reading the often challenging handwritten documents.

Karynne, along with Dana Palmer, will be presenting a special workshop on "It's Not Greek! Reading Old German Handwriting" at the upcoming National Genealogical Society 2025 Conference in Louisville on Wednesday, May 23, 2025.

You can learn more about Karynne by visiting her website:
